RUSSIA AND KOREA. The Chemilpo correspondent of the Kobe Herald, writing on the 10th just , says :-What exactly is in the air is difficult to W. Hazlitt, a work that deserves more tell, but political men seem to have their hands quite full and do not at all seem inclined to park with much information. It of the Public Works Department, on the middle and latter part of the nine is quite clear Russia and Japan are the only contending parties and it is further clear that each is auxious to avoid coming into contact with the other. Rumours fly. first that the Russians have obtained a concession in Masampo, then off Fusan, next a large isband, and then a port near Chinpampo. There is no doubt some truth in these reports, and little doubt is felt in well-informed circles that Russin means husiness and at any cost will have not one concession, but several. She is gaining ground fast with the Koreans. She is using every means possible to carry outher designs upon this country.

No other power cares two buttons for the poor little Kingdom of Korea. I heard it said by a man in a high position, one who knows a good deal that is going on in inner circles, that Russia not only intends to have Kores but her designs go as far as Japan itself. This may seem ruther a hig order, and I for one think it is, but many true friends of Japan cannot but feel this is the hope of Russia, in spite of whatever she may say: A very noteworthy incident happened here the other day in connection with the visit of the Russian flact of five warships. This was the coming down from Seoul of the popular Prince, generally known as the Fat Prince. He is a favourito with most people and represents the views and leanings of a great many of those in power. He was entertained on heard and visited the fleet, receiving a royal salute from the ships quite an event, -if not the first of its kjud in modern history. It is not difficult to guess how delighted and flattered the anniable prince felt. For such a powerful man in the Russia-Japanese political duel he was well used and highly rewarded for his gracious act in visiting. the fleet. The Russians tried bard to buy coal, but everybody denied them. Even attempts to get rise met with much the same reply. All the coal is in the hands of the Japanese. The Russians have a considerable number of soldiers in the country and thousands are stationed just across the border. The Koreans up north are said to be most friendly to the Russians, while south around Seoul she is gaining ground fast. It is thought here among thinking men that Japan must make up her mind to Russian influence being predominant in Kores before long, unless she (Japan) strikes a blow to prevent it. Even then we cannot ignore the fact of the enermous power and wealth of the Northern Bear, Japan has friends and they are not anxious to see her crushed. It is felt Japan has her hands full and a difficult task to solve the Korcan question? There is much to be said on both sides. Japan acts in Koren as if there were no possible idea but Korea for Japan. Japan excludes wherever she can talk others from securing trade concessions. Take Fusan for instance Russis or any other power cannot bay an inch of land. and you cannot get a shop at any price under my pretence whatever to sell or trade as a merchant. That being so, the Japaneso, not content, try the same at the next port, Mosampo, and think the Russiana their enemies for trying to purchase hand. Surely not only Russia but every other country has as much right to buy and as Japan. Although a blind man can see well enough the object of Russia is not alone that of trade, the policy of exclusiveness carried on by Japan has not tender and does not tend to create the best of feeling between nations in general Parling. in the Far Eact

WHY WE SIT ON TABLES. About ten million women are exasperated every day by men sitting on tables. So far as I am aware, women do not pay for the furniture, and it is none of their business a large attendance, the weather was fine how it is used. The labit of men sitting on tables has led to the invention of the cushioned billiard table, and will no both of Oxford, dead heat. Time, It doubt ultimately result in other clever notions, 'At one time it was supposed that men chose to sit on tables because they could got exercise without exertion by swinging their own logs and by kicking the legs of the table. The scientific fact is that tables are more magnetic than chairs. If three men walk into a room where there is no woman, two of them will make for the table naturally. The third one will try two or three chairs, and finally give up in de spair and join the others. The source of this magnetism is the friction that wonten create by polishing tables so froquently. Of course, wonien may that they only polish tables because men sit on them and spoil them, but this is illogical and feminine. No really clever men sit on chairs. They use their chairs for keeping their papers and things on, also their feet Chairs are notoriously immoral. You will notice that a well-bred man when he finds

On the other hand, a woman's davenpore or the knicknack tables in her boudoir have thin and spidery legs that are no use for sitting on. From this it might be argued that women never sit on tables. The man who takes the trouble to investigate, however will find out that they do so in secret Every morning after breakfast the lady of the house retreats into the back quarters on what she calls household duties. Her real object is to go down to the servants' room and sit on the kitchen table under the pretence of ordering dinner. quite time that the uselessness and impropriety of chairs should be recognised. If people only set on tables and on window ledges and on the edge of beds, the world

THE FUTURE OF SIBERIA.

The Siberian merchants and traders Attack on a Missionary. have become alive to the situation, and speak of potitioning for a prohibition to be placed upon American imports. On the other hand, the new customers of the American firms protest against such action, and say, rightly, from their point of view, that they themselves are not to be blamed if the inaction in Siberian trade continues, with an absodesrness of all things. While the dis. people from the countryside got upca mob the Americans will secure the Siberian the district magistrate of Heangkanghaien market; they will erect mills and ironworks for safety. Our contemporary states that last year, ly a man's room, are always supplied with when the cost of shipbuilding was unduly high, owing to labour and material, Britain added 1,186,000 tons of new shipping to her fleet, the measurement! of 856 vessels, of which 628, of 1,166,706 tons, were steamers the largest increase in any year of our history. We bought from foreigners 45 steamers of 58,094 tons, and 29 small eailing thips, while transfers from the colonies and other additions brought the gross increase to our fleet to 1.242,592 tons of stormers, and only 33,108 tone of sailing vessels. But losses by misadventure, age, and decay, as well as sales to foreigners, resulted in large deductions. These total 722,190 tons of steamers, and 173,645 tons of sailing ships, 27 per cent of the fermer and 37 per cont, of the latter being due to losses, breaking up, &c. There is thus a would be a great deal happier. So I say not increase, after allowing for deductions of 194 steamers of 520,402 tons; but a net decrease in sailing ships of 389, and 14,537 tons. Our sales to foreigners were heavy; but it is important to note the remark made by Lloyd's Registry that in the main the vessels which are transferred to foreigners are not of very recent construction.' Thus, when it is noted that last year. our sales to foreigners exceeded our purchases from thom by 203 steamers, of 447,617 tons, it follows that these do not rank in value, or in carrying capacity, with 'It is reported that during the present an equal tonnage of new ressels. The United States was closest to China of all the great commercial nations except Japan, and they had done more to open it to civilization than any country except England. America's trade with China was next to England's and she was second to England in the number of her population in China. The Eldorado of commerce lay before them in the Far East, where hundreds of millions of people were awakening to a sonse of new wants. Referring to the great advance in American trade he said that they sold to China twice as many pieces of goods in the past year as they had sold in the year before, and the statistes of the current year would show still greater sales. He advised that young Americans should be sent to China and made to study the language, and that a civil service system, so far he Consuls are concerned, should also be adopted for the For East. The Chinese Minister Wu Ting in a characteristic speech tendered some wholesome advice to the commercial men of America. He warned them not dump their surplus goods in China irrespective of quality and without regard to the needs of the people. If they did so they would rue the venture. They must study the needs of the Chinese and supply them accordingly. It seems strange to read of a Chinese Minister dictating to Americans the terms of comconsideration by American and other merchants trading with China. It is to be the commission to investigate the best active share in the development of her
